October 18, 2026

Two Canadian IBD nurse practitioners developed bilingual web-based tools summarizing advanced IBD medication therapies to support shared decision making and education, with informal feedback from approximately 25 IBD nurses indicating the tools provide a quick, comprehensive overview.

KEY POINTS

- Approximately 25 IBD nurses provided informal feedback indicating the tools provide a quick and comprehensive overview of medication treatment options for use by IBD nurses and other health professionals.
- The tools support education for novice IBD nurses and non-IBD specialized nurses on the growing number of advanced therapies.
- The tools are presented in a user-friendly manner to promote shared and informed decision making with persons with IBD.
- Updates to the tools are done regularly when new treatment options become available.
- A more formal evaluation is planned to determine the tools' effectiveness and usability from both patient and provider perspectives.
